Field family celebration

The Fred Field family celebrated in the month of November, 2010 to honor Fred and Darlene's 50th wedding anniversary. They were married on November 6, 1960 in Alameda, California. Fred was stationed there with the U.S. Navy. Darlene was from Alameda.

The photo includes all family members except daughter-in-law Kathy who was unable to attend. Five generations are represented by Great-Great Grandmother Martha Field, Great-Grandfather Fred, Grandfather Nathen, and daughter Samantha with daughter True.

The couple celebrated with friends and family at Crestwood United Methodist Church in Muskegon on November 7. Also that same weekend was spent with friends and a dinner out. When Thanksgiving week came, family members arrived. Everyone gathered at the couple's home to have dinner and celebrate with a semi-replica of their original wedding cake — cake top and all!

The celebration still continues as passersby honk when they see the sign in their yard. •

Learn to save a life in just 30 minutes

(Submitted by the American Red Cross)

One in four Americans say they've been in a situation where someone needed CPR. If you were one of them, would you know what to do?

The American Red Cross is encouraging more people to get trained by offering a Citizen CPR course, which teaches hands-only CPR — a potentially lifesaving technique involving no mouth-to-mouth contact. This technique, which is also known as compression-only CPR, is best used in emergencies where someone has seen another person suddenly collapse.

Studies show that if more people learned hands-only CPR, we could increase the likelihood of cardiac arrest survival by more victims within a few steps of lifesaving assistance.

The Citizen CPR class lasts approximately 30 minutes and teaches participants to:

- check for responsiveness
- call 9-1-1
- give continuous chest compressions.

The Red Cross has initiated a campaign to train five million people in hands-only CPR in 2011. If you are interested in learning hands-only CPR, contact the local Red Cross chapter at (231) 726-3555, extension 238, or visit www.arcmon.org.

Full CPR, which combines rescue breaths with chest compressions, is still used for Red Cross certification courses. Giving breaths and compressions is the best option in some emergencies, including those involving infants and children, drowning victims, or people who collapse due to breathing problems.

We offer a range of courses to certify people in first aid, full CPR and the used of Automated External Defibrillators (AEDs). •

S.U.R.F.

(Staff United to Reduce Frustration (in reading))

by Katelyn DeNio and Cora Mink

S.U.R.F. in second grade is all about reading and writing! We meet four days per week for 45 minutes. We get extra time to work on word work, biographies and research.

During word work, we take apart multi-syllable words. We learn the definitions and write sentences using these larger words. We chose a famous person and read a biography about them. We then wrote a report and presented these reports to our class. For example, some kids researched Thomas Edison and some researched Abraham Lincoln.

We researched endangered animals for Earth Day. We then wrote a report and presented our projects to other grades. We used all the supplies in the art box to make our projects. We used shoeboxes for the outside and made our animals out of clay. We certainly learned a lot!

S.U.R.F. is a good time to concentrate on reading and writing better. We are glad to have this extra 45 minutes for work. •

SMALL THINGS

READ:
John 6:4-14

There is a lad here who has five barley loaves and two small fish, but what are they among so many? —John 6:9

THE BIBLE IN ONE YEAR:
Deuteronomy 5-7
Mark 11:1-18

Moody, the Billy Graham of the 19th century, had a major impact on Wilbur Chapman. Chapman, a prominent evangelist, recruited Billy Sunday to join in his evangelistic campaigns.

In turn, Sunday launched a national ministry that had great results in cities like Charlotte, North Carolina. An organization that started as a result of Sunday's revival invited evangelist Mordecai Ham to Charlotte. In one of those meetings, Billy Graham received Christ as his Savior and later became the most prominent evangelist of our time.

When you think you don't have much to offer, remember Sunday school teacher Edward Kimball, who spent a Saturday afternoon reaching out to someone in his class. God has a special way of using routine faithfulness in the "small things" to accomplish great things! —Joe Stowell

What may seem insignificant,
Mundane, routine, or small
Is often used by God to show
His power over all. —Sper

God uses small things to accomplish great things for His glory.
