Friend,

You have probably heard about the death of Daunte Wright. He was killed by an officer while fighting to escape from custody as police were arresting him for an outstanding warrant for armed robbery. The shooting appears to be an accident, but Black Lives Matter is calling it another instance of racist policing even though Wright was alleged to have committed a strong-armed robbery of a woman whom he threatened to kill if she did not give him all of her money.

You have undoubtedly heard of the recent death of Ma'Khia Bryant, who was shot by a police officer as she drew back a knife to stab another girl. Once again however, the incident is being treated as a racist murder of an innocent black "child." Ma'Khia was not a "child" wielding that knife. She was an enraged would-be killer. That officer who acted quickly and with precision to save another girl's life is a hero.

You have certainly heard about George Floyd. Former officer Derek Chauvin awaits sentencing, having been found guilty in the death of Mr. Floyd. The country was unified in its condemnation of the treatment he suffered at Chauvin's hands. However, even in that instance, the police were called because a crime had been committed. Mr. Floyd was a meth and fentanyl addict passing counterfeit money.

One of the things you will not hear is that law-abiding citizens, regardless of skin color, are unlikely to have a negative interaction with police. When officers are called to a crime scene, things can easily go awry. An uncooperative suspect adds volatility to an already dangerous situation.

Every one of these incidents could have been avoided if the suspect had cooperated or never engaged in unlawful activity in the first place. Yet the cry goes up: "Police are hunting down black men." They haven't hunted me, my son or members of my church who are black. The police respond to calls for help, but you will never hear the truth from the mainstream media.

What you'll also not hear much about, if at all, is the murder of Jaslyn Adams in Chicago.

Fortport Area News • November, 2021 • Page 33

She was only seven years old, sitting in her father's car at a McDonald's waiting for a Happy Meal. Instead, she was shot six times in an execution-style hit that riddled the car with 50 bullets. You won't hear protests and outcry about her murder because it happened at the hands of black gangbangers. In the perverse world created by the Left and Black Lives Matter, the only deaths that matter are those in which police are involved. The life of little Jaslyn Adams does not matter to BLM.

Apparently, these lives do not matter either: 6-year-old Elijah France, 6-year-old Chaussidy Sanders -- both killed at parties -- and 7-year-old Alana Washington, killed in a drive-by shooting. These children were killed since last July in Miami-Dade County. Others were shot, but survived. From the Left's perspective, their lives don't matter because they can't be used to advance the lying narrative that the greatest threat to black lives is racist cops.

Black Lives Matter exists only to push a socialist agenda, while Patrice Cullors -- co-founder of BLM -- is buying extravagant homes.

We are launching the Awakening Hearts and Minds Project to expose the evil, lies, corruption and manipulations of the Left.

In the Left's counterfeit reality, facts and truth do not matter. Only their agenda and hunger for power matters. They were hoping that Chauvin would be acquitted so they could spark another round of riots, looting and destruction of property. They thrive off the upheaval because it scares law-abiding citizens into silence and motivates the Left's radical base to disrupt more and create more division.

When the Chauvin guilty verdict came in, Barack Obama, Alexandria Ocasio-Cortez and other Marxists immediately declared that it was not justice because "systemic racism" is still inherent in America. This thinking comes straight out of the Communist playbook, which argues that capitalism is systemically unjust and inherently racist. No facts or logic are needed, just pure Marxist propaganda.

Unless there is an effective counter-narrative, these lies will take root. They already have for many. Awakening Hearts & Minds is providing something that is all too rare regarding these issues -- truth.

The biggest social problem facing the black community is not race or "racism." The biggest obstacle to individual and community progress is the decimation of the family at the hands of arrogant leftists who have absolutely no respect for the institution. Black Lives Matter's original website declared that the "western" nuclear family must be destroyed. They call it "patriarchal" and "exploitive" of women. Children need to be raised as good communist comrades, not honorable American citizens.

You've seen this recently in the behavior of teacher unions. When parents express concern about closed schools or requiring their children to wear masks all day, the teacher unions ridicule them and tell them to mind their own business. The unions and the politicians who support them treat parents like intruders on the state's right to control children's lives. It is a very perverse and socialist worldview.

This attitude has destroyed families, especially in the inner city. It could take a generation to rebuild them, but we must do it.

Crime is spiking in the inner city while George Soros-installed prosecutors release violent criminals and refuse to prosecute those who should be put on trial. More children and innocent people are dying while those responsible for the policies that hamper police and spark crime blame it all on racism. In fact, these so called "progressives" are the racists who are responsible for the genocide of abortion, crime, poor education and the destruction of the family in these communities. We are going to make sure the truth is known, and raise up a generation free of their Marxist manipulation and control.

This is a long-term project, but if we stay at it, it will bear fruit. That's why I'm asking you to consider signing up as a Patriot Partner with a monthly recurring donation. See the information below.

Thank you again for your support. May God continue to bless you, your family and our great country. We will fight until not a single American is made to feel ashamed or guilty because of an inherited superficial characteristic such as skin color.

We believe in Dr. King's vision of an America where we will not be judged by the color of our skin but by the content of our character.

We will STAND - Stay True to America's National Destiny. Our destiny is to be and remain a shining city on a hill, one American family and "one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Did We Win the War on Drugs?

Letter to the Editor, from Epoch Times 10/27 - 11/2

Did I miss some really big news? Did we finally end the drug problem in this country, and firearms are now the biggest cause of deaths? The recent 2020 FBI crime data (per FBI Expanded Homicide Data Table 8) show the total number of homicides, 17,754, of which 13,620 were by firearms. In the category of firearms, 8,017 homicides were committed by handguns and 454 by rifles.

A CDC.gov chart shows that in the previous 12-month period prior to March 20221, there were 96,779 drug overdoses in the U.S. That's approximately seven times the amount of death from firearms, yet we hardly hear about the "war on drugs." We have yet to hear any mention about funds to fight drugs in the proposed $3.5 trillion budget by Biden. With recent reports about the large amount of fentanyl crossing our open borders, the drug death count is sure to increase.

Are our elected officials so lacking in basic intelligence to not see the ignorance of their focus? Or is there some other sinister goal they are pursuing, like disarming citizens? The left has a comprehensive plan for gun control called the Denver Accord (Google it), but it seems Biden does not have, nor care, for a comprehensive plan for drug control to save lives.
